2. Informācijas meklēšana (Search)

Meklēšanas logā ieraksta nepieciešamos nosacījumus (atslēgvārdus vai raksta nosaukumu, vai autora uzvārdu utm.).

The screenshot shows the Wiley Online Library search results for the query "food additives". The search bar at the top contains "food" and a magnifying glass icon. Below the search bar, a dropdown menu shows suggestions: "Everything food", "Publication Food and Energy Security", "Publication Food Science & Nutrition", "Publication Food Service Technology", and "Author Food, M. R.". A callout box points to this dropdown with the text: "Ieraksta meklēšanas kritērijus – atslēgvārdus, autora uzvārdu, nosaukumu u.c..".

The main search results page shows "Articles & Chapters (23,523)". On the left, there are filters for "Applied Filters" (AGRICULTURE, Journals, 2000 - 2018) and "Filters" (Publication Date, Access Status, Open Access Content, Subjects, Published in). A callout box points to the "Applied Filters" section with the text: "Meklēšanas rezultāta ierobežošanas iespējas".

The search results list the article "Recent trends in the use of food additives in the United Kingdom" by Mike Saltmarsh, published in the Journal of the Science of Food and Agriculture, Volume 95, Issue 4, 15 March 2015, Pages 649-652. A callout box points to the article title with the text: "Klikšķis uz raksta nosaukuma, lai redzētu plašāku informāciju un piekļūtu pilnam tekstam".

Below the article title, there is a "PDF" icon and a "TOOLS" button. A callout box points to the "PDF" icon with the text: "Klikšķis uz PDF ikona, lai piekļūtu pilnam tekstam".

The article abstract is visible, starting with "The E number system for food additives was introduced in the 1960s and the E was intended to reassure consumers that permitted additives were safe. In the 1980s full ingredient declarations had to be provided on food products for the first time and manufacturers were permitted to use either the name or the number of the additive on the ingredient list. This paper outlines some of the trends in the sourcing, use and labelling of additives since the introduction of full ingredient listing. Generally, sourcing has become more global with a large number of suppliers being based in China. From an initial use of E numbers in ingredient lists, manufacturers are increasingly using the names of additives. This trend is being extended to avoid the use of anything the consumer might consider an additive, particularly in connection with colours and preservatives. Specifically, the additives used in the Southampton study on the impact of food colour on hyperactivity in children have largely been replaced by colouring foodstuffs, and the preservative used in the study, sodium benzoate, has been replaced by potassium sorbate in the majority of soft drinks." The keywords are "food additives; food colours; E numbers; colouring foodstuffs".

On the right side of the page, there is a "Metrics" section showing "Citations: 7" and an "Am score" of 11. Below this is a "Details" section showing "© 2014 Society of Chemical Industry". At the bottom right, there is a "Keywords" section with "food additives", "food colours", "E numbers", and "colouring foodstuffs".

At the bottom of the page, there is a callout box with contact information: "Konsultācijas bibliogr@llu.lv tālr. 63005695 vai 132 Tehniskas problēmas Elita.Berzina@llu.lv tālr. 63005695 vai 133".
